Submit delivery instructions on the internet through SPEED-e

4. How can I register myself for SPEED-e?

Ans. For using the SPEED-e facility, it is essential that your DP must be registered with NSDL for this facility. There are two types of users for this facility; one is password based user who logs in with his password and can transfer securities only to three pre-specified broker accounts of his choice. The second is the e-token user who has to logon to the site with the help of e-token, Digital Signature Certificate (DSC) and Personal Identification Number (PIN) to transfer the securities to any account.

A password user can visit the SPEED-e website and fill-up the registration form available on the website. The website would allot him a registration number and after signing the agreement, the DP of the client would authorise him for using the facility upon submission of a request with the registration number. An e-token user can download the form from the website, fill it and submit the same to his DP. After signing the agreement, the DP will assign a User-ID and help you procure an e-token, DSC and PIN. You can start using SPEED-e on installing the e-token on to the computer with the User-ID, DSC and PIN.

5. What is the difference between e-token and Password based access to SPEED-e?

Ans. E-token based access to SPEED-e is more secure as your identification is based on both i.e. “What you have i.e. e-token” and “what you know i.e. PIN” and provides a digital signature to identify you. In case of password based access, you should handle your password carefully. In view of this security difference, the password based users have been permitted to transfer securities through SPEED-e facility to only three pre-specified broker accounts. These three accounts can be changed by the user.
