These programs are planned to be organised at Ahmedabad, New Delhi, Chandigarh, Hyderabad, Calcutta, Varanasi, Indore, Chennai, Mumbai, Bangalore, Nagpur & Surat.

Nomination rules for beneficiary owners notified

The nomination facility for shares is provided by amendment in Companies Act 1956. The beneficial owners (shareholders holding shares in demat form) can avail of this facility by furnishing duly filled form available with their DPs. The forms contain photograph of the nominee and the other details of the nominee which help DPs to identify and give effect to nomination given by the shareholder. The DPs have also been informed by NSDL about the procedure for giving effect to the nomination request made by beneficial owners.

Precautions needed to be observed with respect to Delivery Instruction Slips (DIS)

The Delivery Instruction Slips are to be treated like cheque books issued by banks. Depository account holders may need to take the following precautions to prevent misuse of these slips.

- Ensure and insist on DP to issue DIS book; loose slips should not be accepted.
- Ensure that each form is serially numbered (pre-printed).
- Ensure that DP has recorded the DIS book number issued.
- Ensure that your account number (client id) is pre-stamped.
- All details and target account should be filled in by the account holder.

- If only one or a few entries are made in the instruction slip, strike out the remaining space to prevent its misuse by any one.
- Do not leave signed blank DIS with anyone.
- Keep the DIS book under lock and key, like a cheque book.
- IF your account is a joint account, all the joint holders have to sign in the instruction slips. Instruction cannot be executed if all joint holders have not signed.
